LOOKING FORWARD

IT is said that life is a combination of past experiences and future hopes, and this seems peculiarly true of life at Washington University. For it is here that we acquire the foundation and basis upon which to build future happiness and success. It is here that we enjoy the friendships and hopes that will tomorrow be the business associations and accomplishments of America. So it is to those thousands of Washingtonians who have served the life of this city and country and to the future thousands that will continue the tradition that we dedicate this book.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR CHANCELLOR

The University looks with great pride upon the number of its graduates and former students who obtained their education and training under its auspices and have gone forth to the achievement of a livelihood and the service of society. It looks with greater pride upon the accomplishments which have brought satisfaction to them and reputation to their alma mater. Their ability has been the basis of their attainments, and the contribution of Washington University to the area and to the nation has been made possible by the high type of its students.

Its graduates and students have gone and are going into all walks and vocations and professions of life. They have become and will be scientists, statesmen, writers, artists, soldiers, builders, lawmakers, administrators, leaders in their country and in the world. They have made since the founding of the institution a contribution of incalculable value to the life of the nation. They have advertised the city as a center of education and training and culture, and have done their part to enhance its reputation as a center of civic, social, and scientific progress.

The standards the University has sought to maintain formed the basis of the accomplishments of the past and truly represent the goal of the future. The high character of academic and professional work is the best indication of future success, and the University in the promotion of its ideals and in providing its facilities establishes upon a sound foundation the reason for its own existence, and thereby proves its worthiness, through its product, of the position it occupies and its claim to future recognition and support.

AND THEIR FUNCTION

Empowered by the charter of the University to manage the financial matters of the corporation, the Board of Directors obviously has an important function. For on this board sit the men who formulate the financial policies, the ones who determine what investments should be made, where, and when. The Finance Committee at its weekly meetings considers this problem as well as the important one of administering the present funds, properties, and endowments of the University.

Equally important as the constant vigilance over present funds is the formulation of plans for securing new funds and buildings for the school. In this work there is a committee always busy. Finally it is the function of the Board of Directors to correlate the policies of the University and the welfare of the city, for their interests are interdependent.

DEAN OF MEN

From the Dean of Men's office emanates a mass of advice, orders, and general bulletins related to the conduct of various campus organizations. For the Dean is responsible for such things as social dates for fraternities, rules for participation in campus activities, the regular personnel problems of the student body, and such particular things as announcements to be posted on campus buildings and arranging the dates for major school events.

The dean is chairman of the Board of Student Finance, a job which intimately acquaints him with the activities of most of the organizations with whom he must deal. Thus at all times the Dean's office is the center for those who are in positions of responsibility on the campus. It is the Dean who must pass on all student problems, and in turn interpret the faculty and administration attitude to the student body.

ADELE C.
STARBIRD

Center of all activity in the Women's Building is Dean Starbird's office. It is here that the sororities report plans for all dances, teas, and other social affairs. The Dean approves all chaperones, is in charge of drawing up the school calendar for the year, and determines general Women's Building policies in regard to Sorority rooms and rushing. Of vital importance to every woman on the campus is this Dean's office.

GREAT FACULTY MINDS

Professor Usher is one of the few men who can chuckle over the European situation; Publicity Man Harrison showing a trick which if it was generally known would bring him plenty of publicity. Jimmy shows the boys how it used to be done and at the same time gets a bit of training; Professor Lippencott knee deep in the economic resources of the Americas; Cupples I and II magnates at ease on the quad. The only picture in history of "Joe" Klamon actually sitting down in a chair; informal music at its most informal with "Cap" Ballew; the charming and ever pleasant hostess of the Women's Building, Mrs. Bartlett.

DICK YORE

Yore—the last of the iron men has played fullback for three years and is Co-Captain of the Football Team . . . a Thurtene man and also a member of Lock and Chain, he's famous for his Quad Show characters . . . has yet to surpass the Hollywood Producer of this year's show. Among other honors, though he is not the type to relish it, he was chosen Kampus King last year.

ERWIN LANDAU

Erwin haunts the usual Chemical engineer hideouts in Busch, but nevertheless finds time to participate in Pan-Hel, Thurtene, and a variety of other activities. Rating high in scholarship, he gained both sophomore honors and Tau Beta Pi, combined with this erudition practical business sense necessary to run class finances.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

A Thurtene man and Secretary of Sigma Phi Epsilon—Bob has found time to play around backstage in Thyrsus productions (even teaching the cast of Richard III to fence), keep up his work in the Engine School, and at the same time be president of his class.

Harold Ganns, backed up by a revived dorm union political party, was the only member of the Independent Party to be elected in the fall elections. Earnest, hardworking, he is a quiet, easy going person, satisfied to remain in the background and keep an eye on the class finances.

WES GALLAGHER

A prominent Sophomore, Wes swept to power on the Unaffiliated Party's victorious ticket. The first Sophomore President in several years to have the task of directing a freshman hazing program, he did a rather complete job, led the class to a victory in the interclass tug-of-war.

BOB McCANN

One of the prime factors in the financing of the Froshmore Prom, Bob had a real job on his hands, one he did remarkably well. Well liked, he made an ideal person to handle the collecting of the money for the affair. Bob was one of the strategists of the interclass struggle.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

AL BRUCE

In a precarious position because of the return of freshman rules, Al proved thoroughly capable of guiding his classmates through a difficult time. Feeling that certain upper class practices were detrimental, he attended Student Council meetings, argued convincingly, saw certain concessions and changes made in next year's rules.

AL LINDAU

Boldly seconding Bruce, Al proved an efficient administrator of the funds. One of the moving spirits behind the Freshman-Sophomore fight, he did much to organize and instill spirit into the class. He was also on the freshman football squad.

THE CLASSES OF NINETEEN FORTY-ONE

This year's sophomore class will be remembered in the future as the group responsible for resuming that almost forgotten nightmare, "Freshman Hazing". In addition to their delight and enthusiasm over suppressing the exalted ego of the new freshmen, they have taken an active interest in campus affairs of all sorts. Under the able leadership of their officers, Wes Gallagher and Bob McCann the Class of '41 has done its part in maintaining spirit and interest throughout a very successful sophomore year.

—AND NINETEEN FORTY-TWO

The class of '42 entered school last September faced with an untried plan for reinstituting freshman rules. Devised by Omicron Delta Kappa and sponsored by Student Council, the plan was no greener than the freshmen, and both started out on an equal basis. The Frosh underwent a rather thorough orientation program, and a more or less legal hazing promoted by various upper classmen. At first bewildered, the class soon got its bearings, gained spirit, and began objecting to unnecessary abuse.

The whole thing culminated in the annual frosh-sophomore fight, a tug of war held at one of the football games. Upper class dignity was suitably preserved by Sophomore strategy and valor. With the end of the rules came sighs of relief from the Frosh, from veteran seniors the pronouncement that the class had showed more spirit than any within their memory.

THE NURSING SCHOOL—

The Washington University School of Nursing was organized in 1905 as the Washington University Training School for Nurses. In order to prepare students not only for bedside nursing, but also for public health nursing and for supervisory and teaching positions in hospitals and schools of nursing, the University reorganized the School in 1924.

A well-planned course of instruction in both theory and practice covers a period of three years and leads to a diploma in nursing.

In addition to this program, the School of Nursing, in cooperation with the University, offers a five year course which leads to the degree of B.S. in Nursing as well as the diploma. Students in both courses receive instruction in the basic sciences in the classrooms and laboratories of the School of Medicine. In the School of Nursing are taught the courses fundamental to the art and science of nursing. Excellent clinical experience is obtained in the wards and special divisions of Barnes Hospital, St. Louis Children's Hospital, and St. Louis Maternity Hospital, in the out-patient clinics of Washington University and in affiliation with the Visiting Nurse Association of St. Louis. An elective affiliation in Psychiatric Nursing is also offered.

The opportunities open to a graduate of this School are many and varied. In few professions does the college woman find her services placed at such a premium as in nursing. The developments in curative and preventive medicine, the government plans for economic security which include health protection, make this field particularly attractive to the educated woman. The demand for this type of nurse is far greater than the supply.

MILITARY

MAJOR COCHRAN AND CAPTAIN SMITH

THE CORPS—ITS AIM

The Aim or Mission of the ROTC is many fold. Every war the United States has engaged in has been unnecessarily costly in money and lives. This has been caused primarily by the lack of trained leaders. President Lincoln realizing the potential leaders in college trained men caused the Morrill Act to be passed in 1862. This act provided for compulsory military training in all land grant colleges and universities. Its aim was to develop leadership in the college men, and its value was proved again and again. Many successful business men attributed their success to qualities of leadership developed by military training in college. Many officers in the Spanish and the World Wars found this special training in leadership to be of great value. The success of the Morrill Act having proved its worth both in peace and war, Congress passed the National Defense Act of 1920 enlarging military training in the land grant institutions and extending this training to high schools, and non-land grant colleges and universities. It extended the former two year course to four years for a selected number of the ROTC students and organized the Officers Reserve Corps where post graduate work in military subjects can be carried on indefinitely.

Perhaps the most important aim of the ROTC is to awaken in the student an appreciation of the obligations of citizenship, inculcating respect for the law and for constituted authority, and arousing the spirit of practical patriotism, respect for and pride in our flag and our country, and a readiness to serve them in time of need.

Some of the lesser aims are to improve physical health, strength and appearance of the students; to develop self discipline and control, self respect, ambition, self confidence, resourcefulness, courage and industry; to promote courtesy and consideration for others; to foster habits of neatness, cleanliness, order and system, and to inspire the spirit of cooperative action or team-play.

BAND

The Washington University Band is composed of sixty-five enthusiastic students with more than an ordinary interest in music. This interest is fostered by serious study of classical, swing, and martial tunes, long hours of practice, and an opportunity to perform in public concerts.

Under the direction of Mr. Norman H. Falkenhainer and under the auspices of the R.O.T.C. the band has carried an extensive calendar of events. At the first of the year with its music and formations, the organization inspired zeal and fervor into the grandstanders at the football and basketball games. This group marched with the R.O.T.C. unit of the university on Armistice Day as well as at the spring review of the military training organization. Many times this spring the musical refrains, originating in the band's concerts on the Quadrangle, could be heard all across the campus. The eventful season was finally terminated by the annual spring concert tour of several of the near-by high schools.

The success of the University band has been brought about by the fine cooperation of students and director.

PERSHING RIFLES

This year marked the tenth birthday of the Washington University company of Pershing Rifles, National Honorary Military Fraternity. Founded in 1894 at the University of Nebraska by John J. Pershing when he was a Lieutenant in the United States Army. Pershing Rifles has expanded until it includes seven regiments which are divided into twenty-eight companies. The Washington University organization is known as B company of the 7th regiment.

All officers of Pershing Rifles are elected by the members themselves, although they must be approved by the military department. Captain Frank Wissmath headed the unit this year. In competition with other companies throughout the Middle West, Company B-7 was judged the best drilled unit, an honor which makes worthwhile all the long hard hours of practice.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

Advanced military students are constantly striving to gain admittance into Scabbard and Blade, for membership in this military honorary carries with it national as well as local recognition. Only juniors and seniors are eligible. The R.O.T.C. boys who have achieved this distinctive honor can be recognized by the Scabbard and Blade bar which they wear. The bar, which is always worn on the top of the left pocket of the military uniform, has five stars on a red and blue striped ground. These stars represent the five founders who established the honorary at the University of Wisconsin in 1904. It was not until 1926 that Company H-5 was founded at Washington, but the local organization has grown steadily in prestige since that time.

Although their interest is primarily military, Scabbard and Blade members take time off to give a formal dance and a spring picnic.

RIFLE TEAM

Rifle competition was divided this season into three sections with Washington marksmen firing in Metropolitan League, R.O.T.C., and intercollegiate matches. In intercollegiate telegraphic matches, the rifle team boasts a winning percentage of .825, and an all time high score of 1402 out of a possible 1500 points.

The rifle team climaxed its collegiate season when they trounced Missouri, which finished second in the national Hearst matches, in a shoulder-to-shoulder match at Columbia. In addition the team came within a few points of winning the regional intercollegiate tournament at Champaign, Illinois.

A group composed of R.O.T.C. marksmen competed in the Hearst postal matches, in the indoor tourney at Kemper Military Academy and fired against a Kemper team on our range.

Thanks to several victories, Washington riflemen tied for first in the St. Louis Metropolitan Rifle League with an 11-3 record, but lost a shoot-off to two teams of national recognition.

The freshman squad engaged in three matches and was the winner in two of them.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Unwieldy because of large size and method of composition, Student Council nevertheless sticks to its schedule of meetings, gets a reasonable amount of work done. Under the leadership of Student President Murphy the organization struggled with the knotty problem of restoring freshman rules and making them work. The plan for a walk to fraternity row turned out to be quite a fiasco, it being a stumbling block no council to date has been able to surmount.

More impressive was the council's management of the homecoming dance, control of student politics and several other unspectacular but solid accomplishments. Best of all, the Council ended the year with a good cash reserve for future projects.

WOMEN'S SELF-GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Women's Self-Government Association, commonly called the W.S.G.A., greets the freshman girls as soon as the school year begins in the fall. Technically, every woman student is a member of this organization, but there is a select group of senior women which serve as the representatives for their sex in all university activities.

On the day of Convocation, even before school actually starts, the W.S.G.A. entertains the freshman girls at a luncheon at which Dean Starbird, the girls' physical education teachers, and various campus leaders are presented.

Throughout the year this organization consolidates a variety of activities. Under the able leadership of Dorothy Moore, this year's group have upheld the traditions of their organization, standing out in scholarship as well as in extra-curricular activities, and doing their best to set an example for the younger girls by means of their practice of fair play and cooperation.

ADVERTISING BUREAU

Faced with reduced revenue from other sources, all campus publications this year looked to the Associated Students Advertising Bureau to balance the budget by selling more advertising. Ken Davey, hard driving manager of the Bureau, was kept constantly busy conceiving new promotional schemes, directing sales campaigns, and in a variety of ways arranging for new sources of income. Important in the Bureau were the salesmen and Business Managers of the publications, these men doing much of the actual work of selling the ads and writing the copy.

HATCHET

ROBERT BYARS
Editor

Above all else it has been the desire of the editor and his associates to make this book—your Hatchet—one that you will like. That in our minds was the important thing. To that end we included more groups and activities than formerly, and made a special effort to reproduce as fully as possible the multitude of informal activities that determine the ultimate happiness and success of anyone's university career. So, if in some small way we have enabled you, both now and in the future, to recall with fondness the companionship and struggles of your school year plus the ideal behind it all, we are satisfied.

Work on a yearbook such as Hatchet requires the smooth fitting together of the products of many hands and brains. A successful staff must combine members of organizational and business ability as well as the artists, creative writers, and photographers who must be both artists and technicians. Above all to be happy and efficient the staff must be dependable, must perform the small tasks as well as the great ones. This year the editor was happy in possessing just such a cooperative group of assistants who were both his best friends and severest critics.

STUDENT LIFE

PHIL WILLMARTH

Although economically hampered by a limited budget, Editor Willmarth did much during the past year to modernize the bi-weekly issues of Student Life. Ably he directed the attitude of the paper toward current student topics, was fortunate in possessing in Managing Editors Extein and Fargher two hard driving organizers who saw to it that the paper never missed an issue or a story. The three led the staff in a new attitude towards the paper in particular and the campus in general, refused to take either themselves or the rest of us too seriously, poked sly fun at many much-publicized affairs. The net result was a paper containing more informal features than in the past, on the whole much more readable.

THE BUSINESS MANAGER

PAUL LASHLEY
Business Manager

Chief supporters of any newspaper are its advertisers. And Student Life is no exception to the rule, for it relies upon its business manager and his staff to solicit sufficient number of inches of advertising to make the paper a paying proposition. This year the editors were fortunate in having as business manager Paul Lashley, aggressive and able. With his colleagues of the Advertising Bureau Paul occupied himself with talking circulation, reader value, and the general good will that accrues from inserting one's name in the campus publication.

He pushed with vigor the advertising of the downtown merchandisers, devising various publicity stunts and methods of attracting new accounts. It was hard work; the results: more downtown advertisers, more ads for the paper.

ELIOT

AARON HOTCHNER
Editor

Faced with a general student apathy to a magazine too narrowly "literary", puzzled Editor Hotchner resorted to a complete reorganization of Eliot. He gathered a large staff of interested people about him, adopted the system of employing temporary managing editors for each issue to cope with the multiplying work resulting from a change in policy and an increased circulation. Seconded by his corps of managing editors he made great strides toward restoring to the campus the type of magazine it wants, a worthwhile, entertaining feature publication. Sidestepping as much as possible the pitfalls into which the extinct Dirge fell, Eliot nevertheless at last began to use more illustrations, conduct interesting polls and other features, satisfactorily and unobtrusively slipped into the collegiate viewpoint and manner.

ELIOT BUSINESS STAFF

Under the capable management of Business Manager Maynard the Eliot Business Staff forged well ahead of last year in sales, usually exhausting the complete printing of the issue. Aided by an improved magazine and somewhat improved business conditions this small but industrious group did much to make Eliot not only self supporting, but also helped to raise enough money to enable Editor Hotchner to carry out some of his more progressive plans in a successful manner. Increased circulation brought increased advertising value to downtown businesses, and in general the staff rounded out a very satisfactory year.

LAW QUARTERLY

The Law Quarterly first appeared under the name of the St. Louis Law Review in 1916. It continued under that name for twenty-one years until 1939, when it became The Washington University Law Quarterly. It is edited by students chosen from the select 3.00 average group by the Law school faculty.

Nation wide in fame and importance is this publication of the law school students. The subject matter of the Quarterly includes analyses of legal problems, reviews and interpretations of texts, and examinations of legal themes. The staff which edits, publishes, and distributes the publication are by no means the fountain "from whence all knowledge flows", for they are aided by members of the law faculty and by outstanding and distinguished outsiders.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY CHORUS

Math teachers have a hard time concentrating on the afternoon when the Chorus practices in Cupples I. The combined voices of the men's and women's glee clubs create sufficient volume to be heard all around the Quad. However, the complaints of math profs were drowned by the compliments bestowed upon the Chorus following its first annual concert in the Gold Room of the Hotel Jefferson. As far as the public is concerned, combining the men's and women's glee clubs into a single organization, the Chorus, was a splendid idea. The Chorus concert met with favorable approval. Ruth Finke made a lasting impression with her rendition of "Deep Purple."

In April about forty members of the Chorus left school for a few days with nothing for an excuse except the Chorus concert tour of southern states. All those left behind sighed with envy and had visions of their more fortunate classmates having luncheon with the Philadelphia Athletics while in Memphis and tripping the light fantastic at practically every stop on the tour.

QUAD SHOW

Thumbs up on Thumbs Down for one of the best, most finished performances ever to have been given by the club. Elaborate in scope, complete down to the smaller details, the cast, scenery, and musicians were thoroughly good.

With music by Jean Speaks and a book by Wayne Arnold, the club had the basis for the performances. But there was much more to it than merely the music and the lines. It was the carefree and lusty manner in which the various actors carried the lines that made the show. With such outstanding senior veterans as Reinhardt, Yore, Mara, Norris, and Huber to pace the show, and such able underclassmen as comedienne Pitts, sweet and gentle Marselek, and grim faced Barbee to help carry, there could be no doubt as to its success.

And a smooth performance it was from the busy production staff to the last member of the chorus. A gay frothy thing, preaching no message, but providing much enjoyment, Thumbs Down will long endure among the fond memories of students and alumni alike.

THYRSUS

Thyrsus members had a wonderful time this year toying with Shakespeare and putting on two modern plays, one a melodrama and the other a comedy. First on the list of productions were the English XVI plays. Of the three one-act plays presented, Ralph Bradshaw's "The Clock Struck Ten" was judged the best and captured the Wilson prize award. Turning their attention to more serious drama, Thyrsus players gave "The Ghost of Yankee Doodle." Last of the major productions was that hilarious satire on the theatre, "The Torchbearers."

The Workshop in this its second year was ambitious enough to experiment with Shakespeare. Combined casts of ninety players presented three versions of "Richard III". As every one agreed after the performance, it was a tremendous undertaking, but one which the Workshop handled admirably. On a smaller scale, Workshop members directed and acted a miracle play, "Noah's Flood," and one of Wayne Arnold's one-act comedies, "Eva and the Snakes."

Thyrsus members who made National Collegiate Players gained a lot of valuable experience before the mike, for the local chapter of the dramatic honorary had a regular weekly half-hour radio program during the last months of the school year. Such Thyrsus favorites as Dolly Pitts, Roberta Seibert, Bob Alexander, and Fuzzy Cook were featured in the radio dramatizations of one-act plays written by students.

The Campus Y. M. C. A.—Y. W. C. A., with its many diversified activities and large membership, is actually many organizations in one. Part of a national and international student fellowship, it attempts to perpetuate in concrete activity an 80 year tradition of service to individual students and to the campus.

Its distinctiveness lies in the fact that it cuts across all campus groups, that it is flexible to choose and plan its activity on the basis of campus and personal needs, and that its program is designed to offer maximum growth in character values and leadership through experience.

Assemblies, forums, discussion groups, vesper services, social service, contact with community movements, social and fellowship programs, the International Bazaar, vocational information, counseling and orientation are among the activities it has carried on during the past year.

McMILLAN HALL ASSOCIATION

The last outpost for women on the campus is McMillan Hall, the one and only girls' dormitory. For the duration of the school year it is "home" to approximately 100 resident women students. They hail from north, east, south and west, representing 21 states and possessing a variety of accents. For the purpose of exercising their privileges of self-government, the girls are organized into the McMillan Hall Association.

The most important event on the McMillan Hall social calendar is the annual Open House in November, at which time the faculty and the relatives and friends of the resident students are invited to view the dormitory rooms. Before the girls evacuate the hall for the holiday season, they entertain at a festive Christmas dance. In addition to these more formal social affairs, the arrival of a box from home is always the signal for an informal celebration known as a "spread", "feed", "midnight feast", or just plain "party".

DORMITORY UNION

Definite steps toward an improved school spirit among men students living on the campus were made this year by the Men's Dorm Union. Reorganizing early in the year, the dormitory men drew up a new constitution in which they outlined more specifically the purposes and objectives of the union. Although their main purpose has been to promote a better spirit of cooperation between the two men's dorms, Lee and Liggett, they have also endeavored to stir up interest and enthusiasm in all that pertains to Washington University.

Social events were numerous on the dorm calendar. A series of "fortnightlies", informal Saturday evening dances, was initiated in the second semester. Biggest dance of the year was the gala Christmas party which the residents of the men's dorms and McMillan Hall cooperated in giving. The boys insist on a man-sized slice of the credit for the success of the dance, because they worked so industrially on the elaborate decorations.

An enthusiastic orientation committee plans to return early enough in September to welcome new dormitory residents and to make them feel at home as soon as they set foot on the campus.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

The ultimate aim of every junior and senior male student is to be privileged to wear the key of Omicron Delta Kappa, the men's national honorary fraternity. Because of its capable and active members, this organization has performed many a service to the university during the years of its existence.

The O.D.K. members are responsible for the publishing of the Freshman Handbook, which is useful in helping the newcomers to become acquainted with the school and its various organizations. O.D.K. further aids the freshmen by preparing an orientation program, including a special day set aside for the new students. It also drew up the set of freshmen rules which were in force during the past year.

By no means did O.D.K.'s activities end here, for all during the year they carried on a "faculty evaluation" system. According to this plan, any professor on the campus, who desired to learn just what his students thought of his ability as an instructor presented his case to a council of O.D.K. members. Representatives of this organization took a census of the professor's popularity among his understudies and showed him the outcome. In this the professors could learn how to improve their methods of teaching. O.D.K. was thus not only helpful to students but also to the faculty. O.D.K., at Washington, thus celebrated twenty-five years of service to the schools of the nation with a new service for the faculty here at Washington.

MORTAR BOARD

Goal of all campus coeds, Mortar Board yearly initiates the outstanding seniors of the campus. Thus having honored the girls, the organization puts them to work, aids them in making a real contribution to the campus.

In a variety of ways the honorary has its effect upon many phases of vital campus problems. Featuring weekly tea dances, the organization gradually accumulated a reserve to be used for worthy purposes as well as provided an opportunity for students to get together in the afternoon. Coupled with these were such usual Mortar Board activities as freshman vocational guidance, cooperation in freshman orientation program activities, and the general business of assuming the leadership and setting the standards for campus women. All in all, it is a high honor and a great challenge to be a member of Mortar Board.

THURTENE

Thurtene saved the day for Thyrsus and Quad Show this year by coming to the rescue in the crisis which involved the fate of all campus dramatic entertainment. The only student organization to volunteer to preserve order at campus dramatic functions, Thurtene was responsible for the lifting of the suspension of Quad Show and Thyrsus.

Every year thirteen junior men are initiated into Thurtene on the thirteenth day of October. Elected because of their outstanding record in school activities during their freshman and sophomore years, these new initiates are expected to carry on the tradition of significant accomplishment established by their predecessors in this junior honorary.

The main event on the Thurtene calendar of events is the annual carnival in May. Every thing from a ferris wheel ride to fraternity egg-throwing contests is offered for the entertainment of the hundreds of carnival patrons.

TERNION

Eagerly awaited by all students on the campus is the small but valuable publication, Ternion, issued every Fall soon after registration. This contains invaluable information of use to every student as well as every organization on the campus. The booklet bears the name of the organization that compiles it, and represents several weeks of hard labor on their part.

For Ternion is the Junior Women's honorary, and as such maintains an active program of cooperation with various worthwhile campus projects affecting both men and women. The campus directory is merely one of their functions, albeit a highly important one. The girls are chosen on the basis of their leadership, hard work, and interest in activities of the campus. It means both respect of one's fellow students and constructive work when a girl is elected to this group.

LOCK AND CHAIN

Lock and Chain is a sophomore men's honorary organization made up of eighteen sophomores appointed by the Lock and Chain men of the previous year. Each fraternity is entitled to one representative, as is the Dorm Union, and one man is selected from the independent or unaffiliated students. Mainly social in outlook, the organization spends much time planning dances, devising methods of improving school spirit.

The present group has shown initiative by taking an active part in the enforcement of Freshman Rules and in organizing and leading the whole Sophomore Class to victory in the annual "Froshmore Battle". This year Lock and Chain has set a precedent of class leadership and social promotion, and if succeeding Sophomores follow in the footsteps of the present members, Lock and Chain will retain its position of campus leadership.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION

Each spring a maximum of fifteen freshman women are chosen to become members of Freshman Commission. They are selected by their predecessors on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and character.

Their principal duty begins when they return to school as sophomores. It is to assist new freshman girls by acquainting them with the traditions and activities of the university. This they accomplish by assisting orientation leaders during the orientation period. The last orientation meeting is successfully handled by the Freshman Commission members, who give a party for the new freshmen. Amid the excitement of games, record music, and refreshment, the freshmen girls get better acquainted with their classmates and begin to feel already as though they were a part of this vast and mysterious campus.

At the Thanksgiving football game, Freshman Commission members sell chrysanthemums, later give a bake sale—and the treasury begins to fill.

Other activities of the organization are to assist Ternion and Mortar Board whenever called upon, and to serve refreshments in the Women's Building after the Homecoming Game.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

The cheerful Christmas spirit that prevailed at Washington last December was due in large measure to the efforts of Alpha Phi Omega to promote a campus charity drive. Composed of former scouts, A.P.O. is an active service organization, and one of its most important projects of the year was a joint sponsorship with Campus Y of a campus-wide Christmas charity drive. So successful were their efforts in securing the co-operation of student organizations that enough food and clothing were donated to provide Christmas baskets for approximately 150 families.

During the Christmas holidays the local chapter was host to 300 delegates attending the national A. P. O. convention here in St. Louis.

A permanent guide service is maintained by A.P.O. during the year. Any high school or out-of-town groups who have difficulty in finding their way over the campus, should send out an SOS to A.P.O. There will be an obliging student on the job right anyway.

TAU BETA PI

Mainly scholastic in scope, Tau Beta Pi nevertheless has standards of leadership, personality, and general interest in the work which must be met before the engineering student can be admitted to this organization's membership. For the group takes a very active part in the engineering school, carrying on a variety of activities, both constructive and educational.

It is the members of Tau Beta Pi that handle the freshman orientation for the school of engineering, and a thorough job they do. Throughout the year they hold meetings and dinners where they look over new prospects, hear well known speakers, hold interesting discussions, generally act the part of intelligent interested scholars.

The fraternity is open to both juniors and seniors, but outstanding indeed is the student who is admitted in his junior year.

PHI SIGMA IOTA

Parlez-vous francais?

Hubla Usted espanol?

To at least one of the above questions, every Phi Sigma Iota member must be able to answer in the affirmative, for the organization is a Romance Language Honor Society. Membership in the society is in "recognition of outstanding ability and attainments in Romance Languages and literatures." Dr. Robert J. Neiss, instructor in French and Spanish, is the sponsor of the organization.

During the year the society has meetings at which a student or faculty member presents a paper discussing an interesting topic in his field of research. This year the members celebrated in February with a gala party, which fell on Valentine's Day, and later in the spring they enjoyed a picnic outing.

PHI ETA SIGMA

Recognition comes early in the school career to the freshmen men who study, for they are asked to become members of Phi Eta Sigma, the freshman men's honorary.

Phi Eta Sigma is a national fraternity founded fifteen years ago. A grade point average of at least 2.5 is necessary for membership, and all men measuring up to this requirement are initiated in the spring of the year. The ceremony is held in Graham Chapel.

These future members of Sigma Xi, Scarab, and Phi Beta Kappa uphold the high traditions of the university, and it is almost certain that these same men will have fulfilled their early promise when they bid farewell to Washington University.

SHARPSHOOTERS

The Women's Rifle team has this year distinguished itself as an up-and-coming activity on the campus. Although tucked away on the third floor of Cupples II, it is becoming well known to all members of the Women's Athletic Association.

The membership this year, fifty-odd, is the greatest it has ever been. The rifle range has been reserved for women marksmen every Tuesday from one to five o'clock. Eleven firing points are theirs for the afternoon, and in addition the markswomen of this year have been presented with coveralls of great beauty.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic Association, largest women's organization on the campus, has been the active cog in the wheel of women's athletics since 1909. Entrance into this athletic association is based on the acquiring of a requisite number of points earned in athletic participation.

The activities of the organization include participation in every line of athletic endeavor. During the past year the ice skating club, Icicles, was revived. Inter-collegiate competition in some sports has been achieved by the W. A. A. Throughout the year, several large, successful parties were given.

Climaxing the W. A. A. sport season is the annual May Fete. Its participants include all Freshman girls and chosen upper classmen. The honor of receiving the crown of the May Queen at the Fete is one of the highest attainments that a girl can obtain during her college career at Washington University.

This well organized association is under the direction of Miss Alice Schriver, head of the Women's Physical Education Department.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA

Alpha Lambda Delta is that scholastic honorary which honors those Freshman women who, in their first year of college, distinguish themselves in their studies. If a girl at the end of her first semester has achieved a 2.5 average or, if she has such a good record for the entire year, she is honored with the badge of the organization at an assembly to which all Freshmen are invited to come. Shortly thereafter, she is formally initiated into the honorary, a national one.

This achievement implies that the members of Alpha Lambda Delta have made an immediate adjustment to the academic life of the university. To encourage similar performances among each incoming class, the actives, all sophomores, sponsor a mid-semester tea for Freshmen girls with a "B" average.

Among the various activities of the group is the worthy but little-known tutoring service. Many a flunk-Freshman is saved through the grace of Alpha Lambda Deltas, who give time and instruction to anyone having trouble with a subject familiar to the members.

AUTUMN PANORAMA

SEASON IN REVIEW

This year's campaign was the most successful one since 1935, when the Bears won the Missouri Valley Championship. Coach Conzelman can look back on his team and bless his backs, and linemen. With a record of six victories, three defeats and one tie, the Bears showed a marked improvement over last season.

The season opened with Vanderbilt's coach, Ray Morrison, bringing his "Rose Bowl Hope" and three complete backfields here for their clash with the Bears. It was the toughest possible way for the Bears to open their season, but when the Commodores had come and gone, the score was not one to be ashamed of. With a few breaks and less fumbled the score could have been much closer than 20-0—Vanderbilt. On three separate occasions the Bears had touchdowns set up when miscues interrupted their threats. The blocking as a whole, and especially Washington's blocking of the Vanderbilt secondary, was poor. Most of the ground gaining fell to Bill Ferfecky and Jack Warner, as the Bears missed the services of Yore, Harvey, and Brew.

THE BALL IS SNAPPED AND THE LINE MOVES INTO ACTION

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION DURING PRACTICE

The experience that Washington gained in the Vanderbilt game stood them in good stead when they opened the Missouri Valley Conference race against the Drake Bulldogs. The bears were at full strength, with Yore calling signals from the fullback position, Harvey at quarter, and Ferfecky and Warner at the halves. In the line were Seibert and Tracy at the ends, Brew and Harris at the guards, Murphy and Cunningham at the tackles, and Nick Klisurich, co-captain, at center. It was truly a mighty day for Conzelman and his Washington Bears as they downed the Drake Bulldogs, 25 to 13. The blocking was greatly improved as Yore, Ferfecky and Warner starred in Washington's first victory in three years over the Iowa team.

Riding high on the crest of their victory over Drake, the bears ran into the Tulsa Hurricane and were blown slightly off their course, as they suffered a 14 to 0 setback. In the Tulsa game the greatest fault was the lack of blocking in the line. An important factor in this game as in the Missouri and Vanderbilt games was the lack of reserve strength. This became apparent as the Bears started to wilt under a temperature around ninety degrees. The Bears only scoring threat of the afternoon was stopped on the Tulsa nineteen yard line when they intercepted a Bruin pass.

The Simpson game was only a breather and the Bears went over the mountain at the rate of two points a minute in the first half, with a final score of 58 to 6. A new scoring combination was introduced in this game as Frost, Hayes, Beshara, and Duncan aided in piling up the points. Simpson, however, scored a moral victory in that it score the first touchdown of the season and its third in as many years. It was Moon who shone for our opponents as the sun began to fade behind the goal posts at Francis Field. It was Moon who, on a hidden ball play, disappeared over the horizon and ran ninety-one yards for a touchdown.

Missouri spoiled what would have been a perfect Homecoming by downing the Bears, 13 to 0. The team, minus Jack Warner, could not launch an offensive and Missouri used a strong running attack which, aided by their heavier forward wall, was strong enough to defeat the Hilltoppers.

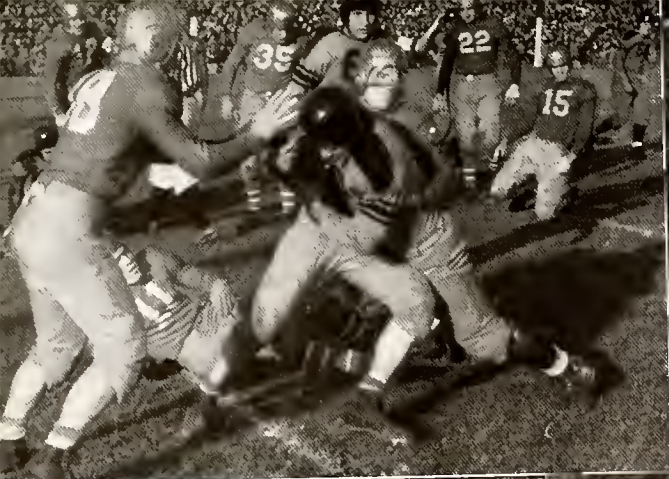

The Bears recovered their scoring punch against Centre College, of Kentucky, when the Praying Colonels forgot to pray and Washington won, 20 to 7. Behind a brilliant running attack the Bears took complete charge of the game. Yore scored twice and a pass from Ferfecky to Warner netted the third score.

In their second Conference tilt the Bears met Oklahoma A. & M. on a heavy, muddy field, and it was Ferfecky this time who behind a stalwart Washington line set up four touchdowns to defeat the Cowboys, 24 to 0.

AN EXCITING MOMENT IN THE TULSA GAME

THE SQUAD IN ACTION

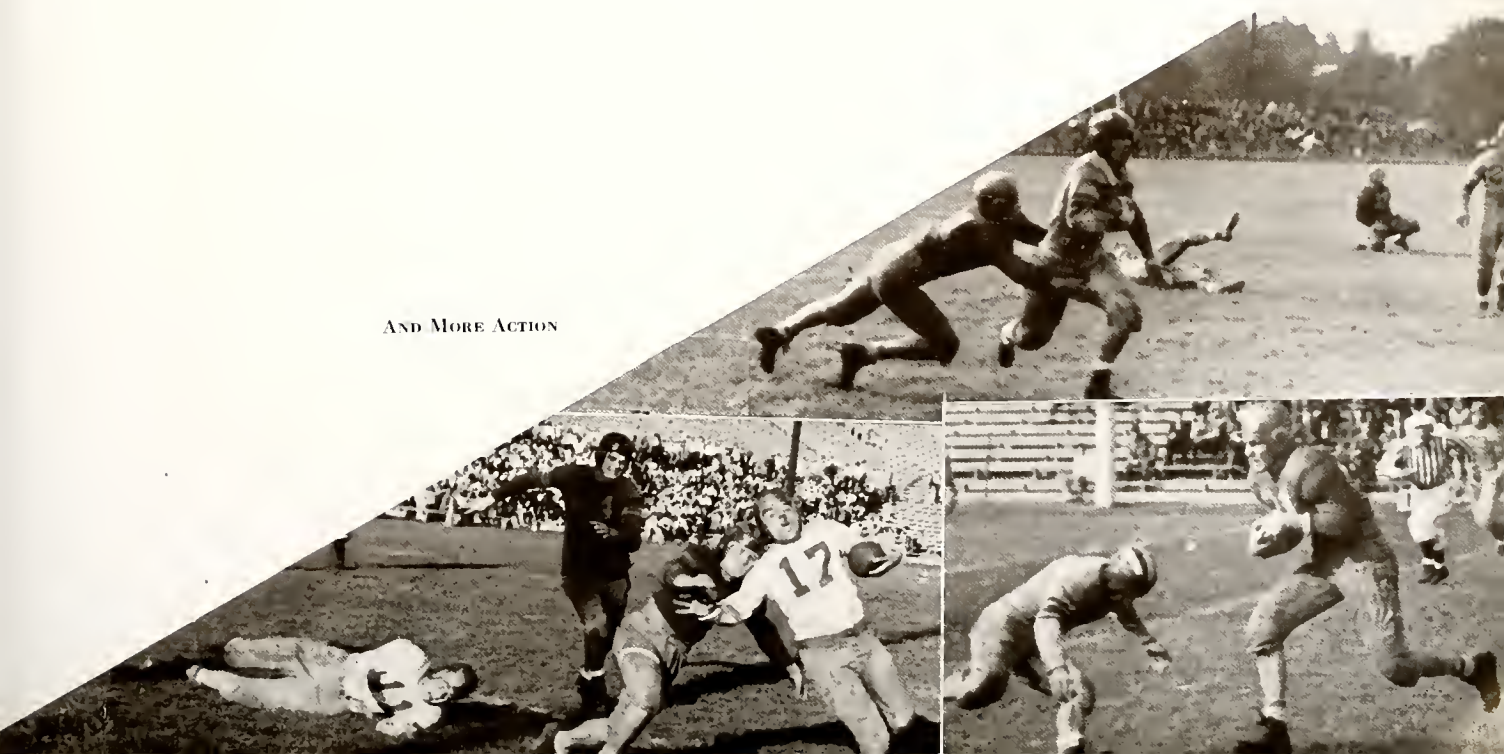

The Butler game is to be remembered as one of the most thrilling games in Washington history from the standpoint of excitement, razzle-dazzle, and thrills per minute. In the battle Washington started off like a whirlwind and scored twenty points in the first half. As the Bruins slowed down in the second half the Butler team tied the score. In the final minutes of play with a one point defeat staring the Bears in the face Ferfecky returned to the lineup, after having been injured, to catch two passes from Yore, score a touchdown and win the game 27 to 21.

In the final tune-up game with McKendree, the Bears set a new scoring record by defeating them, 88 to 0.

The Turkey Day Classic turned out to be a disappointment for the Bears, as they were held to a scoreless tie by the St. Louis Billikens and lost a chance to tie for first place in the Missouri Valley Conference title race. The Bears were heavily favored to win, but heavy clinging mud and poor sloppy footing made it impossible for the Bears to turn loose their powerful running and passing attack. The game resolved into a punting duel in which the brilliant kicking of the Billiken's Denny Cochran kept the Bears on their heels all afternoon except for two touchdown threats late in the second half.

AND MORE ACTION

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Seldom, if ever before, has there been a freshman team at Washington as good as the one of the past season. The team was composed of holdovers from last season and players who had transferred from other schools.

School spirit backing the team was good before the first game with the Junior Billikens: after a 25-7 victory the praise of the team was lavish. Fans commented favorably on everything from the excellent ball-handling of the backs to the little free-for-all resulting from a slug fest between Purvines, Cub end, and Finnegan. Billiken tackle, which was started by an argument over how a St. Louis player had been injured after the whistle had blown.

The Cubs gained 313 yards from scrimmage while their opponents gained 39. Three men, Kaufman, Stephenson, and Theiling were placed on the injured list as a result of the game.

Every one said that, although the Cubs had a fairly easy time taking the measure of the Junior Bills, it would be another matter for them to beat the Drake Frosh. The Cubs pulled the double-cross on the local sports writers' union and defeated the Drake Frosh, 26 to 0. Although the Cubs displayed a good running attack it was their aerial work that paved the way to the pay dirt. All the Cub scoring was done by the aerial route, which centered around Bud Schwenk, left half.

When the time came for the pre-game write-ups of the Cubs' next game with the Washburn Frosh the sports writers had ceased their chant that the Cubs would have a hard time defeating the Icabods and stated frankly that the Washington Frosh looked pretty good and that bets on the Washburn team just weren't the thing. The Cubs responded with a systematic and complete destruction of the Washburn team, defeating it 39 to 0. In this game the Cubs varied their attack, using aerial and ground offense with equal ease and efficiency. At the beginning of the third quarter it became apparent that the Icabods were headed for the cleaners, so the fans headed for the gate while the Frosh went ahead to score 26 points in the last half.

The Cubs headed for their last game of the season, an Armistice day game with the Junior Bills, in fairly good shape. The men on the injured list were suffering from a foot injury, and Blades and Tortorello, hobbling because of sore legs. Kaufman, who had been injured early in the season, was again in shape for the game.

The team was plainly good and if the men on the team are able to make their academic grades the Hilltop will probably again hear the cry that has been quiet since the passing of "The Iron Men"—namely—"Big time here we come!"

The Bears, after a 1938 slump, started slowly in the 1939 hardwood season, built up to high points in the middle of the schedule, and then slowed down to finish well back in the field.

Desmond Lee had the honor of sinking the first basket of the season, as the Bears opened with a win over McKendree. This small school gave Washington some unexpected competition as they fought Washington on even terms most of the game. The Bears started on their road trip as they played their second game against Illinois University at Champaign. Coach Huddy Hellmich could not seem to get the team going, as they missed a much needed scoring punch against a very superior defensive team. The Bears were also weak in the free-throw department, missing many chances, while they also fouled the Illini quintet sixteen times. Bill Ferfcky was high point man. The next game on the road was with Iowa of the Big Ten. It was a rough game throughout, with the Bears still being unable to profit by their opponents' errors, as they connected on only six out of seventeen charity tosses. Jack Warner led in the scoring column with eight points, as the game ended with a 42-26 score. The Teachers from Southern Illinois handed the Bears their third straight set-back in a close game, in which the Illinois team eked out a 45-42 victory. Uhlemeyer was high point man, with Ferfcky and Gerst playing a fine defensive game. At this point in the season the Bears could not seem to do anything right, as they were constantly playing loose defensive ball, and did not seem able to penetrate the enemy's defense, to work in for the all-important set-ups. No combination that Coach Hellmich used seemed to click, even though we had seven lettermen from the previous year, and many fine shots.

The Bears came out of their slump with a rush to skin the Tigers in a 47-43 thriller. The Bears really looked good, as Jack Warner and "Iggy" Uhlemeyer got hot and shared the scoring honors. Bill Ferfcky tied the score with a long shot in the last minute, and "Iggy" came through for the last four points. Washington also looked good in defeating East Illinois Teachers, in a Christmas Holiday game.

Making their bow into Missouri Valley competition, the Bears came out on the short end of a 39-33 score against St. Louis U. The Bears showed plenty of fight but were outplayed by the Billikens' teamwork. The Cochran brothers, Bill and Denny, of football fame, personally conducted the victory, as they scored twenty-four of their team's thirty-nine points. The Bears led 24-21 at half time, but could not meet the Billikens' rally in the last part of the game. After the St. Louis game, the Bears again took to the road for two more conference tilts, with Creighton and Washburn respectively. Washington made their most successful road trip of the season, as they beat both Creighton and Washburn in closely fought contests. The Bears played their usual rough and tough, fast-breaking game, as they introduced a new high scorer in Desmond Lee, who starred with thirty-seven points in the two games. In the Creighton game, the Bears started slowly, trailing 18-11 at half-time, but then Lee got hot in the third quarter and the Bears jumped into the lead and were never headed. The Washburn game was also a close one, in which Washington started out with a good margin, only to be almost nipped by Washburn's closing spurt. With thirty-six fouls called, it was the roughest game of the season. Washburn was beaten and Creighton defeated the Bears in return games.

The end of January found the Bears down in Columbia, where the Big Six Champs from Missouri University measured the Bears in a 53-32 contest. As was the case in most of the Bears defeats, their defensive play was loose, while, at the same time, they could not get their blocking plays to work.

The Bears were frozen out in their first trip into Iowa this year, as they went down before both Grinnell and Drake. Bill Ferfucky was injured in the Drake game, as the Bears found themselves up against one of the smartest and best coached teams they met all year.

With the Bear supporters about to give up the ship and toss in the towel, the team finally began to click again, as they stepped ahead in a beautifully played all-around court game to defeat the St. Louis Billikens. "Iggy" Uhlemeyer and Desmond Lee were high point men as the Cochran brothers were well covered by Gerst and Uhlemeyer. The Bears now stood even with St. Louis, and this necessitated a play off for the city basketball title. The Bears looked much the better team in the play off, as they got started slowly, built up a lead and were never headed as they coasted into victory.

The next Valley game was with the "Golden Hurricane" from Tulsa. Closely contested through the regular periods, the game was not decided until after five minutes of an overtime period, and, when the smoke had cleared, the margin of victory was with Washington, as Uhlemeyer's free throw in the last minute decided the contest. "Iggy" was also high-point man, as he scored a total of eighteen points. On the next night, the Bears met the league-leading Oklahoma Aggies and could not stand up against the blocking offense and steady ball-handling of the cow-boys. The Bears used their usual driving and fast-breaking style of play, but this was not enough to penetrate the strong defense set up by the Oklahoma team. The game showed that the Bears played good ball as individuals but that they would have to get hot to win over a team that controlled the ball and played a carefully-planned game.

The Bears divided their next two Valley games, winning from Drake, who tied for the Conference title, and losing to Grinnell. The Drake game was a definite upset, in which the Bulldogs held a 21-15 lead at half-time, and had a fairly comfortable seven-point margin with four minutes to go. At this point the Bears started the fireworks, and Warner and Gerst tied up the game in the last few seconds of play. With a 33-33 score going into the overtime, the Bears stepped into the lead for the first time during the game. The scoring continued on both sides, with Gerst dropping a set shot from short center to end the battle. Uhlemeyer and Ferfecky were again high point men for Washington.

The end of the season found the Bears on the road as they played their last two games with Oklahoma and Tulsa. The Bears went into these final games with a chance to finish in the money in the Valley race and end the season with a .500 average for all games this season. But Oklahoma and Tulsa had too much on the ball and the Bears ended the season with ten wins and twelve losses. Six players hung up their shoes as the season ended and played their last basketball game in the Washington University uniform. All six have played fine basketball and it would be hard to say who will be missed most, but one could not go far wrong in naming Bob Gerst, this year's captain, for that honor. One of the best "money players" we have seen in a long time, he could always hit when the blue chips were down and he was a good, steady influence with his strong, defensive playing. "Iggy" Uhlemeyer and Ferfecky will also be missed very badly, as they were the spark plugs of the Bears' offense. "Iggy" was the scoring and dribbling ace of the team, high-point man for the season, and the only player to get a position on the All-Conference team. Bill Ferfecky, in spite of an injured knee, was always playing a hard and fast game and was a scoring threat throughout the season. We also lost two good guards in Bill Record and Charlie Gillis. Charlie will be remembered for his excellent ball handling and the deadly way he sank those long shots, and Bill for his fighting, defensive play. Otto Butterly was the real utility man of the team, as he played both at center and at forward, and his best point was the way he handled rebounds, dropped in set-ups, from under the basket.

The Bears' season was a success—it was much better than last year's record of four wins and seventeen defeats—in fact, it was the best record made in the last eight years, but it could have been better. The margin of victory or defeat in many of the games was very slight, as the Bears divided games with most of the teams on the schedule. This season we had a good team, almost a great team, and with fine material from this year's freshman team Coach Hellmich should put us at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference next year.

SWIMMING

Swimming, the sport at Washington which has maintained the most consistently successful teams, is constantly growing in interest to the average student. Coach Eilers, nationally prominent in his field, never fails to develop and produce a fast, spirited group of swimmers who year after year add to the fame of their coach, Wilson Pool, and their school.

The Bears minus the service of last year's Clair Staley started out on what looked to be a disastrous swimming season. The schedule began with a road trip to Kansas. Dual meets with Kansas and Kansas State were closely contested with the Bears winning from Kansas and losing to State. In the Ozark A. A. U. meet the combined varsity and freshman teams swimming against some of the best swimmers in the district were able to amass enough points to give them a second place in the final showing.

The team was given only an outside chance to win the Missouri Valley Meet, but a well rounded squad plus fine coaching by Artie Eilers brought to Washington its fifteenth Missouri Valley title in sixteen years of competition. The team was able to win in spite of the fact they failed to get a first place. A very large number of entries plus a great many seconds and thirds brought about the team victory for Washington. The Bears amassed a total of fifty points as they were pushed closely by the Oklahoma A. & M. team. The top performers for Washington were Waton in the back stroke, Haley and Matthey in the sprints, Captain Bud Skinner and Rudy Garcia in the distances, and Al Von Hoffman as a diver.

An outstanding team this year should develop a much stronger varsity in the near future. Such capable performers as Brand in the breast stroke, Jacobs in the back stroke, Eiffert in the back and crawl, and Fred and Bill Armstrong as distance men should give Washington one of the best teams in the region.

Prospects for a successful track season on the Hill do not appear particularly bright at the time of this writing. Lost to the Bears through graduation are distance men Frank Wright and Baltz, field men Tomlinson and Beeler, and Missouri Valley Javelin champion Ernest Ohle.

Distance men returning to the team are Rey Gordan, Evan Wright, Elmer Miller, and Frank Brookes. Performances of these men so far this season indicate that they will capably fill the vacancies left by Frank Wright and Baltz.

The mile relay team, outdoor champions in the Missouri Valley Conference, composed of Lebye, Schaum, Brookes and Gutman will be intact for the present season.

Particularly impressive in their workouts have been Chester Schaum and Harry Davis, sprinters. Recently Schaum ran the quarter mile in 50.4 seconds on a wet track, while Davis did the hundred yard dash in 10 seconds flat.

The hurdle races appear to be particularly weak this season with only two men, Read Boles and Russell Schoenbeck, reporting for duty.

The Bears have been in just two meets at the time of this writing, the Illini Relays and the Missouri Valley Indoor Meet at Drake. Washington failed to show in the Illini Relays but placed fourth in the Missouri Valley Meet with thirteen points.

Washington placed Davis second in the fifty yard dash, Schaum second in the forty-fourty yard dash, Gordan third in the mile and Brookes third in the half mile. The mile relay team finished fourth after dropping the baton on an exchange.

"YOU'RE OUT." A PLAY AT THE PLATE IN THE ILLINOIS GAME.

With five lettermen returning to form the nucleus and with a number of last season's reserve and some new men with which to build the rest of the team, prospects for a good season are fairly high.

At the time of this writing it appears that the positions at the sacks will be held down by Jack Warner, Ed Pfeiffer, and Johnny Skubiz.

The catching position left open by the graduation of Dick Douglas will probably be filled by Alex Ham, first string catcher on last year's Frosh.

The pitching staff will be strong with the return of five veterans, Bob Gerst, Al Von Hoffman, Ted Huey, Don Janes, and Al Schucart.

The outfield positions at present are filled by veterans Bud Ferring, Adolph Uhlemeyer, and Tom Cummins with Sam Haley and Bill Witler trying to displace the veterans.

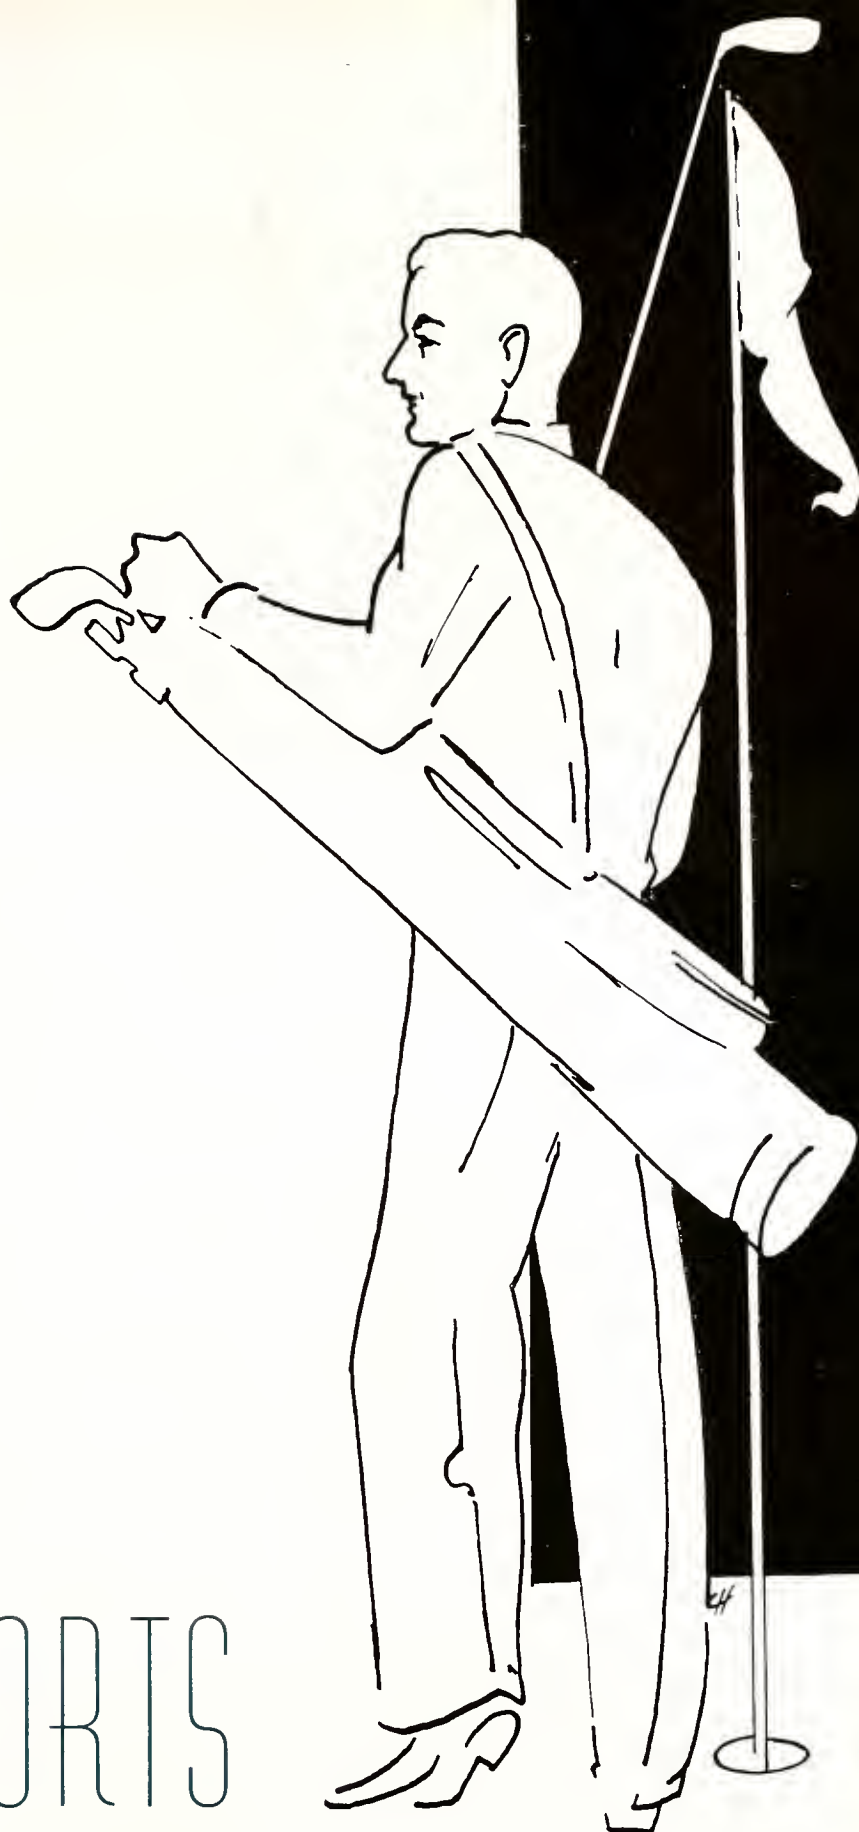

The short stop position left open when Gilles transferred to the golf team will be filled by Frank Saratowitz.

Coach Coleman Morse with only one letterman. Bud Alexander, back from last year's squad, is having a difficult time in building up a capable golf team. Charles Gilles, who transferred from the baseball team. Bob White, and Ted Young are the other three men on the squad.

With only one match so far this year with Kalamazoo Teacher's College it is difficult to tell exactly where the team is going. This match was played on a cold and windy day and the scores were necessarily quite high. Bud Alexander and Nal Knight of the teachers' team tied for low medal honors with a score of seventy-eight, as Washington lost 11 to 7.

Prospects at this point in the season don't look too good, but with a capable squad and plenty of reserves that rate almost on a par with the afore-named team. Coach Morse should be able to develop a good team before the season is over.

T E N N I S

With no less than five veterans returning this year, the tennis squad faces what ought to be a most successful season. For in such men as Bascom, Evans, Neuruther, Hemker, and Dee the team has players experienced in intercollegiate play, men who last year brought a great many victories to Washington. Most of the matches are played indoors due to the weather, and with plenty of pre-season practice the team should once more prove victorious.

Although at the moment according to Coach Eilers the team has not selected a Captain, it seems likely that it will be one of last year's standbys, either Sam Evans or Jack Bascom.

Considering the handicap under which they were working, the fencers turned in a creditable performance this past season. They won one and lost four of their intercollegiate matches and won all their outside matches. Individual members of the team showed well with Howard Baker winning the city novice epee championship, George Curtis taking second place in the city saber competition, and Lew Shotliff, George Beckman, and George Curtis winning the AFLA team saber championship.

The fencing team, made up of only three members will lose its captain Louis Shotliff through graduation this spring. There are, however, enough promising freshmen coming up from the freshman team to build a six man team next fall.

Hockey, the newest sport at Washington University, showed greater improvement this past season than at any other time in its brief history. Although handicapped by lack of men and equipment the Polar Bears were nevertheless able to give a good account of themselves on the ice. The high point of the season was reached when they played the Saint Louis Billikins to a scoreless tie in an exhibition game before a crowd of eight thousand.

Polar Bear fans were few and far between this past season, but Coach George Groner and the members of the team are confident that better publicity and the recognition of hockey as an intercollegiate sport will lead to an increase in the number of fans and an improvement in the brand of hockey now played on the Hill.

INTRAMURAL

With S.A.E. gunning for permanent possession of the final intramural trophy, intramurals have taken on an almost professional atmosphere this past year.

Phi Delta Theta took an early lead when they defeated a well trained S.A.E. team to win the speedball championship.

Phi Delta Theta increased its lead by producing a badminton team that swept through the season undefeated and won the intramural championship when they defeated the Z.B.T.s by winning one of the two singles and the doubles match.

Sigma Chi started its climb toward the top in the intramural race when it won the golf championship playoffs from the Betas.

The first man to cross the finish line in the cross country race was Larry Lynn, S.A.E. He was followed closely by Carl Burst, Beta. The team championship, however was won by Phi Delt who placed their five man team in the first 10 place for the second time in two years.

The volley ball championship went to S.A.E. who defeated Sigma Chi 15-13, and 15-6 to win the championship.

Sigma Chi made a bid for more honors when they won the team boxing championship by nosing out Sigma Nu. Standout man of the tournament was Herman Ross 155 pounder who punched his way to the finals and then defeated last year's champion, Hank Nelson, to win the title.

S.A.E. pulled something of a surprise when they floored Beta Theta Pi, last year's champions, to win the team wrestling championship.

Basketball, probably the most closely contested sport was won by S.A.E. when they defeated Phi Delta Theta in the play off for the championship.

S.A.E. gained a one hundred point lead in intramurals when they defeated the Sammies to win gymnastics.

Possessing two outstanding swimmers in Jack Williams and Willard Schlatter, and also having a well rounded supporting team, Theta Xi annexed the swimming championship with a comfortable margin.

At the moment of writing, soft ball has not been decided, but the two teams that seem to be the leading contenders are Phi Beta Delta, and Theta Xi.

QUEENS

In a Hatchet dedicated to those Washingtonians of the present and future who are serving not only Saint Louis but the whole country, it is very fitting—that the Hatchet Queen—the beauty queen of the campus, be chosen by an alumnus of this institution. McClelland Barclay not only possesses a life scholarship to the art school, but he comes from a family of people loyal to the University. His Grandmother was a liberal benefactor while his father "doctored" the football team for years. Today the name McClelland Barclay connotes modern originality, promises clear judgement.

NEW YORK

Dear Mr. Byars:

Okeh! Thanks a million. I am a former student ( 8 years to 18) of the W.U. Art School where I was given a perpetual life scholarship because of my grandmother's benefactions to the institution.

I studied under Wuerpel and Carpenter etc. and my father "doctored" the W.U. football team years ago.

Send photos and a return mailing package properly posted.

Hastily,

M. McClelland Barclay

HOMECOMING: A fowl moment at the highly informal dance; what are we bid on number nine: a view of the pep rally—at any rate you can see the fire:
 This group got stung constantly in front of the K. A. house: A group of the Phi's admire their work: the bear gets on the band wagon. The winning exhibition of the Sig Chi's.—it was a good show: the Teke castle: and this is something that also came home, but we don't know why.

HOMECOMING: The Betas go hill billy at Number one and tie for first: our photographer was on the spot to get this picture of the Sigma Snundies: hands across the table at the homecoming dance.
 T. X. again took the homecoming sentiment seriously.
 The prize winning Alpha Chi toast to victory: you name them: prodigal son a la S.A.E. with topper et al:
 and here we have the brief but chummy welcome of the Sigma Nu's.

Mary Wilson looking very coy: the little lady that brought the military department to its knees: best dressed the coeds said.

After class pickup: presenting a new angle on the quadrangle: head cheer leader Compton relaxing in one of the easier cheers.

Fire drill—damp. but some day a fond memory of fraternity life: Theta grins after Theta victory: what the well dressed coed is wearing in hats this year—or is it?

The B.M.O.C.'s of the campus, and we mean mouths, taking care of the Quad Show: they look like European refugees, but it's Brown Hall in the back instead of a castle: an army travels on its back.

ON MAINTAINING LEADERSHIP ...

- To win and consistently hold a place as the recognized leader of school annual printing, has been the record of Rogers Printing Company since its beginning in 1908.
- That we have, during a period of 31 years, successfully produced hundreds of annuals for schools throughout the country, attests our ability to satisfy completely the most discriminating Year Book Staff.
- New ideas, coupled with the knowledge and experience gained through a quarter of a century's service, insure the school that chooses a Rogers printed book of ideal pages "From Start to Finish."
- We are proud that the staff of THE HATCHET entrusted its printing to our organization and we herewith present it as an example of our work.

The one on the right doesn't get it; proving that all the jellying isn't in the Quad Shop; indoor huddle; is that a fish story or is he pitching pennies.

Webb and Marselek relaxing from their strenuous social duties; all this for the price of a ticket to Quad Show; Ridgely vista showing how students desert the library on the first spring day.

So that's what takes place behind scenes: Lambeth walk—Hartman. Oye; three engineers putting in a hard afternoon in lab.

A bevy of beautiful freshman girls at the Eliot dance with Sally as chaperone; the irony of this is that it was done in front of Cupples and not at the art school; more of the arcade: the home type.

See YOUR WAY TO SUCCESS

No matter how you look at it, you see your way to success. Your welfare, in school now and in business later, depends more upon your eyes than upon any other single factor. So take good care of your eyes. Have them examined by a competent eye authority every year. And if glasses are prescribed be sure they are of the finest quality obtainable.

IN GRATITUDE

It takes many people both on and off the campus to make possible your Hatchet. There are a host of these people who deserve recognition and our thanks. Especially:

The Post Dispatch, Globe Democrat, and Star Times, three newspapers that have by their cooperation on publicity and the use of their reference libraries helped us to produce a more interesting Hatchet.

Paul Piaget who took infinite pains and time to create more artistic queens pictures and general photography . . . and the entire staff of the Wheelan Studios.

Mr. A. N. Sullivan and E. W. Hill of Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company, Mr. Oliver Rogers of the Rogers Printing Company, and Mr. Ken Cooley of the S. K. Smith Company, all of whom went far beyond mere business interest to give us the best in service and advice.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ernst, and A. Lechleitner, three people who have constantly been of aid in a variety of ways. And Dr. Roy W. Mackenzie, Mr. W. G. Barry, Mr. Oliver Stone, Mr. Ralph Bradshaw, and our Sponsor, Mr. John Smith, all of whom aided and abetted our job throughout the year.
